

8.8.2014

Get your exclusive access to the Robe Premiere!

Robe has announced that it's eagerly awaited new product launch will be a webcast broadcast across the world in ten languages. Applications for access to the event - on 2nd September via robepremiere.com - are being limited to ticket holders. Registration for tickets opened at the beginning of August and has already exceeded expectations.

Over the past two decades Robe has constantly innovated a stream of bright, feature packed and reliable award winning products that have proven solid investments - across all sectors of the industry - right across the world.

Register now for your chance to view the Robe Premiere launch by visiting www.robepremiere.com.

